

A close-up photograph of a hand with dark purple nail polish holding a pink Frixion marker. The hand is positioned over a notebook page. The page has handwritten text in black ink that reads "turn your dreams INTO PLANS". Below the text, there is a hand-drawn diagram consisting of several pink lines forming a series of connected, irregular shapes, possibly representing a flowchart or a plan. The background shows other pages of the notebook with some faint handwriting, including the word "wann". The overall scene suggests a process of planning or organizing ideas.

I CHANGED THE STORY

turn your dreams
INTO PLANS

wann